*As the impact of COVID-19 has been significant since February 2020, the change in fluctuation compared with two years ago (2019) is also stated.

<Special Items>

With regard to the hotels owned by JHR, RevPAR of the total of the 24 Hotels with Variable Rent, etc. for February 2021 was significantly affected by the extension of the declaration of the state of emergency that started January, which resulted in a decrease of 68.7% from the same month last year, and a decrease of 78.0% from the same month two years ago (2019).

RevPAR of the total of the 24 Hotels with Variable Rent, etc. for March 2021 has been affected by the extension of the declaration of the state of emergency for the Tokyo metropolitan area (Tokyo, Kanagawa, Saitama and Chiba) and other reasons. As of today, the RevPAR for March 2021 is expected to be the same level from the same month last year, when the impact of COVID-19 became apparent, and is expected to decline by around a little over 70% from the same month two years ago. However, following the complete lifting of the declaration of the state of emergency on March 21, we expect the RevPAR to gradually recover.

Under such circumstances, each hotel continues to strive to give consideration to health of guests and employees and working to manage hygiene environment and conducting operations while thoroughly implementing cost management. Each hotel is working to secure sales by implementing sales measures that respond to new demand, such as staycation or “workation,” etc. in addition to attractive value-added products and price-conscious products.
